

Wildwood Cemetery Index

Chesaning Township, Michigan

Updated 02/11/2019

Introduction and Explanation

This "Cemetery Index" was produced for the benefit of the Chesaning Township Government, owners of the "Wildwood Cemetery," and to assist the Genealogical community in their search for their roots.

It is the understanding of the compiler that at various times in the past, the Township Burial Records for this cemetery have been lost and reconstructed as best they could from memory. This has resulted in problems knowing who all the residents are and exactly where they are located.

The contents of this index are an attempt to more accurately reconstruct the lost data. It consists of transcribing the existing Township Sexton's Burial Records, the newer Township computerized Burial Records, the 1982 cemetery readings done by the Saginaw Genealogical Society, and the contents of the River Rapids District Library's Family Genealogical files. The compiler has not attempted to verify the existence of markers, but did check the spelling of some names by actual tombstone reading.

Wildwood Cemetery is laid out in five (5) distinct sections and some include unique features that need to be addressed to make this Index of value to both the Township and to the Genealogist searching for their ancestor. (Refer to the Wildwood Cemetery Maps enclosed.)

The oldest part of Wildwood is located on the South (left) side of Sharon Rd. and is identified as the South, Center, and East sections. This portion of the cemetery is pretty much straightforward with the Lots numbered in a consecutive pattern. Letters were applied to the rows on the map of these sections to aid in locating the desired gravesites.

The part of Wildwood where the Mausoleum is located is identified on the map as the West Section. This portion of Wildwood is unique because of the numbering system that was used and care should be taken here since there are as many as four (4) lots with the same number within this section alone. Again, an identifying row letter was applied to the map as an aid and is used in the index. The row letters must be used in this section to locate the proper lots.

The mausoleum was built by a private corporation that sold crypt spaces. It was not affiliated with Chesaning Township so no records of the burials within were available. However, Chesaning Township has recently assumed ownership of the mausoleum.

The newest part of Wildwood is the North (Memorial) Sections and it is located on the North (right) side of Ferden Rd. This part of the cemetery is also unique in that it is subdivided into three (3) subsections. Each of these subsections has Lots starting with #1. Indexing of this section will show the North Section and a subsection number. (Example: North – 3). No row letters were used here because of the irregular layouts of the graves in sections #1 and #2.

Included in subsection North – 2 is an area identified as "Babyland". This area is located between the West entrance road and the West boundary fence on the far West edge of the cemetery. The West boundary fence divides Wildwood Cemetery from Resurrection Cemetery, which is a Catholic cemetery.

At the time that this Index was completed, there were 35 individuals appearing in the Library's Genealogical Files as being buried in Wildwood Cemetery that had not been located. These individuals can be identified by the lack of Section, Row, and Lot information and the inclusion of "Genealogy File." It is the hope of the compiler that all of these individuals will be located in the near future.

This index is believed to be accurate as of March 31st, 2017.

Doyle Smith – Compiler
